By accessing and using the Site or by otherwise signaling your agreement when the option is presented to you, you consent to the collection, use and disclosure of information described in this Policy. How Do We Collect and Process Your Information?

We collect, receive and process the following personal information from you for the purposes set forth below and in the "Other Processing Activities" section of this Policy. If you are a user in the EU or the EEA, for purposes of the EU General Data Protection Regulation, 2016/679 (the "GDPR"), we act as a data controller with respect to this information. We collect information from you via the Site, and we may also receive information about you from other sources, including third parties, business partners, our affiliates, or publicly available sources.

Is entry of personal information required?

You may choose not to provide us with any personal information, and you may still access and use much of the Site. However, if you do not provide any personal information, you will not be able to access any portions of the Site that require your personal information.

Contact Information. When you visit our Site, request our services, or contact us, we may collect or receive your first and last names, mailing address, telephone number, and email address.

We process Contact Information to provide our Site and services, to honor our terms of use and contracts, to ensure the privacy and security of our Site and services, to maintain our databases and back-ups, to manage our relationships with you, to communicate with you, and to keep records of our communications with you. The legal basis for this processing is consent or, where applicable, our legitimate interests in the proper administration of our Site and business, the proper management of our relationships, and the performance of a contract between you and us and/or taking steps, at your request, to enter into such a contract.

Broker Tokens. If you subscribe to our services, you can link your broker accounts to our platform. Most integrations occur via OAuth, and we do not receive any information in this scenario. Some integrations are based on tokens, and we will briefly process your user credentials for the brokerage account in order to receive a token from the broker for the integration. We will retain the tokens, but we will not retain your brokerage account credentials.

We process Broker Tokens to provide our Site and services, to honor our terms of use and contracts, to ensure the privacy and security of our Site and services, and to maintain our databases and back-ups. Cookies and Similar Technologies

First and Third-Party Cookies

A “cookie” is a small file created by a web server that can be stored on your device (if you allow) for use either during a particular browsing session (a “session” cookie) or a future browsing session (a “persistent” or “permanent” cookie). “Session” cookies are temporarily stored on your hard drive and only last until they expire at the end of your browsing session. “Persistent” or “permanent” cookies remain stored on your hard drive until they expire or are deleted by you. Local stored objects (or “flash” cookies) are used to collect and store information about your preferences and navigation to, from, and on a website. First-party cookies are set by the website you’re visiting, and they can only be read by that site. Third-party cookies are set by a party other than that website.

Other Similar Technologies

In addition to cookies, there are other automatic data collection technologies, such as Internet tags, web beacons (clear gifs, pixel tags, and single-pixel gifs), and navigational data collection (log files, server logs, etc.) that can be used to collect data as users navigate through and interact with a website:

- Web beacons: These are tiny graphics (sometimes called “clear GIFs” or “web pixels”) with unique identifiers that are used to understand browsing activity. In contrast to cookies, which are stored on a user’s device, web beacons are rendered invisible on web pages when you open a page.

- Social Widgets: These are buttons or icons provided by third-party social media platforms that allow you to interact with social media services when you view a webpage or mobile app screen. These social widgets may collect browsing data, which may be received by the third party that provided the widget and are controlled by third parties.
- UTM Codes: These are strings that can appear in a URL (the “Uniform Resource Locator,” which is typically the http or https address entered to go to a webpage) when you move from one web page or website to another. The string can represent information about browsing, such as which advertisement, page, or publisher sent the user to the receiving website.

What Cookies and Similar Technologies Are in Use and Why Do We Use Them?

Google Tag Manager. We use Google Tag Manager, which allows marketed website tags to be managed using an interface. The tool itself (which implements the tags) does not use cookies and does not register identifiable data. The tool causes other tags to be activated which may, for their part, register personal data under certain circumstances. Google Tag Manager does not access this information. Google Tag Manager is subject to the Google Privacy Policy located at <https://www.google.com/intl/en/policies/privacy>.

Other Cookies. We also use the following first-party cookies:

- PHPSESSID (Necessary; session) — Used for authentication and remembering the logged-in user.
- REMEMBERME (Necessary; 365 days) — Used for authentication and remembering the logged-in user.

Other Third-Party Technologies

Some third parties may use automated data collection technologies to collect information about you when you browse the Internet. The information they collect about your online browsing activities over time and across different websites and other online services may be associated with your personal information and used to provide you with targeted content. We do not control these third parties’ technologies or how they may be used. If you have any questions about targeted content, you should contact the responsible party directly or consult their privacy policies.

Choices About Cookies

Most web browsers are set by default to accept cookies. If you do not wish to receive cookies, you may choose to not allow certain cookies via the cookies consent banner or you may set your browser to refuse all or some types of cookies or to alert you when cookies are being sent by website tracking technologies and advertising. You may adjust your browser settings to opt out of accepting a “persistent” cookie and to only accept “session” cookies, but you will need to log in each time you want to enjoy the full functionality of the Site.

Please be aware that, if you decline the use of cookies, you may not have access to the full benefits of the Site. In addition, adjusting the cookie settings on the Site may not fully delete all of the cookies that have already been created. To delete them, visit your web browser settings after you have changed your cookie settings on the Site.
